

Mobile Timekeeping

Reduce errors and increase productivity by making it simple to record time

Accurately recording timesheets is essential to maintaining a successful business. Our application promotes accountability, and enhances reliability, while reducing losses. Increased transparency makes it easy to verify employee punch times and locations.

Mobile timekeeping allows employees to punch in or out while on-the-go, with the ability to track lunches and breaks. With each time punch it is possible to capture photos, signatures, and data regarding current jobs, vehicles, inspections, and odometer readings.

Key Features

- Allow users to clock in and out from the field while keeping track of breaks and lunches
- Timekeeping expenses become easily manageable. Pay workers for the exact amount of time they spend on the clock and easily export that data for analysis.
- Collect important employee and job information with each punch

The feature brings the ease of timekeeping directly to employee fingertips. A user-friendly interface makes the application's use seamless by assisting employees without distracting them from their tasks. With added accountability, unnecessary overtime is now limited, reducing overall company costs.
